FLETCHER S. BROCKMAN SPEAKS TOMORROW IN CENTRAL UNION CHURCH

Out of the heart of China and fresh from conferences with some of the most influential of its leaders, comes Fletcher S. Brockman, National Y. M. C. A. secretary of China, who will give the address in Central Union Church tomorrow morning. A mission of urgent importance calls Mr. Brockman to New York at this time, and reaching Honolulu Thursday on the Mongolia, he has been induced to stop until Tuesday, thus enabling a large number to hear the important message he brings.

Every one is vaguely conscious of the significant changes which are rapidly taking place in this new republic, but those who have been privileged to talk with Mr. Brockman say that his story of current developments in China is truly eye-opening. For fifteen years Mr. Brockman has been at the center of things Chinese. He has traveled widely, has won the confidence of President Yuan Shih-Kai and his staff, knows men of every rank and station, and is at home in every province. Naturally a man of this sort is peculiarly well adapted to speak with authority on the present political, social and religious conditions prevailing in China and his interpretation of the trend of affairs today is genuinely valuable.

Brockman has a great story to tell, said one man who came from a conference with him. "It is certain that his remarks will be pertinent, stimulating and valuable. His point of view is that of a Christian statesman. With his splendid band of secretaries he has so dignified the work of the association and emphasized its importance that wherever he goes the key men of the cities through which he travels beg that he will organize an association in their home towns. Even men who are not Christians themselves have recognized the value of Christian character and have contributed generously to this work. Educational leaders in China who are establishing higher institutions of learning are demanding Christian teachers on their faculty staffs. Wonderful opportunities are opening up and Mr. Brockman has a dramatic story to unfold."
